

Andrey Fomichev is an experimental nuclear physicist. After finishing the Moscow State University in 1986 he was employed at Flerov Laboratory of Nuclear Reactions, JINR. Experiments with radioactive ion beams and related methods were the topic of his PhD thesis in 1996. Since 2005 he is head of the “Structure of light exotic nuclei” department at FLNR, JINR.